

Wednesday, November 26, 2008

CRRC-Azerbaijan Past Events Summary

PAST EVENTS

Determinants of labor exploitation and human trafficking in Azerbaijan

Dr. Azer Allahveranov, Ph.D. in Social Philosophy, delivered a lecture on Determinants of labor exploitation and human trafficking in Azerbaijan at CRRC-Azerbaijan.

The presenter discussed the recent ILO report on characteristics and determinants of labor exploitation of nationals and foreigners in Azerbaijan and citizens of Azerbaijan abroad. The report was prepared within the ILO project of Development of a Comprehensive Anti-Trafficking Response in the South Caucasus. The report focuses on labor migration of low-skilled workers, who are more likely to end up in abusive and exploitative situations.

The topic created vivid interest among CRRC visitors and was followed by questions and answers session.

If you didn't have time or are just too far away to attend a lecture at CRRC Azerbaijan, you can now get information about our past events from our main website.

We publish short stories about the lectures, presentations and seminars held at CRRC. You can also find event pictures and presentation slides there. Recent talks addressed topics such as public health, labor exploitation, and economic policy. To find out more, visit the Past Events section of our website.

How can you keep track, straight from your browser? Install an RSS feed for the past CRRC events. That way the information comes directly to you!

Not yet signed up to our mailing lists on ongoing events? Oh dear. Please write to us at [emin+signup \[at-sign, written out to avoid spam\] crrc.az](mailto:emin+signup[at-sign, written out to avoid spam] crrc.az).

And if you are interested in particular events, or want to present your ongoing research, let us know. We are extremely keen to support your work and research.